Kerosene Stove Explodes and Bungalow is Levelled

$300 IN CASH LOST

Two Children Carried To Safety by Their Parents

A family of four was driven from its home by flames early this morning shortly before 1:30 when a kerosene stove exploded throwing the interior of the modest little bungalow into a roaring furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Gibson and children, Sarah, 10 months old; and Eldridge 3rd, 30 months old, escaped without being burned. The parents of the two children carried their offspring to safety through the one door which was available for their escape.

The small bungalow was levelled to the ground and the contents were consumed. A pair of Gibson's trousers with a wallet in them containing $200 was lost. A wallet of Mrs. Gibson's with $20 in it was found with one end burned, but the money intact. Gibson said he was saving the money for hospital expenses for his wife as another child is expected within a few months.

The family went to the adjacent home of James Jones where they were given shelter.

The bungalow is located off Beaver Dam Road in Bristol Township, to the rear of the plant of the Bristol Paint and Chemical Corporation, Beaver Dam Road and Route 13. Gibson is employed in Holmesburg.

The family was asleep when the kerosene stove exploded. It had been kept lighted to keep the dampness out and to keep water warm for the baby's milk. Gibson said there was a terrific explosion and the whole rear of the room was ablaze. The windows were blown out and flames shot high into the air. The reflection was visible for quite a distance. Firemen from Bristol and Edgely answered the alarm but were unable to save the building.

Gibson said that he had just purchased a television and a sewing machine. He could not estimate his loss but thought it would reach $2500.

WORLD NEWS 'IN BRIEF

The Senate, after defeating determined Republican assaults on the Point Four program, passed and sent to the White House yesterday the bill authorizing aid to foreign nations. The vote was 47 to 27. Congress must still vote funds for the six programs in the third year of the Marshall Plan.

Unless economic equilibrium is restored to the world before the end of the Marshall Plan, Europe's efforts toward freer trade and less governmental control will fail, the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe reported. West Germany's upper house voted, 27 to 16, to join the Council of Europe.

The Western occupying powers completed plans for the military protection of the Western sectors of Berlin during the week-end demonstration of Communist youths. Steps were taken to minimize the chance of "incidents." Young Communists massing in the Soviet sector were forbidden by the "People's Police" to enter Western areas.

An agreement to regulate arms sales to Middle East and equalize supplies to the Arab states and Israel as a contribution to stability in that area was announced by the United States, Britain and France. The three promised to see that frontier or armistice lines were not violated. This feature heightened Tel

PLAYGROUND FINANCE DRIVE TO OPEN JUNE 1

Used For Equipment and
To Pay Part of Salaries

TO OPERATE 10 WEEKS

The Bristol Playground Association, which plans to open play centers in four school yards here, for 10 weeks period, starting the first week in July, will open a drive for funds beginning June 1st. The goal of the association is $5,000 and a corps of 90 solicitors has been organized to make a house-to-house visit in every district in Bristol. The Bristol Playground Association is a civic group, and has no connection whatever with the Recreation Board of the Borough of Bristol which is supported by tax funds. The association requests the cooperation of the public, and states that the main objective is to provide recreation for children of younger age.

The four school yards to be opened are: High school in the sixth ward; Washington street in the second ward; Wood street in the first ward; and Bath street in the third ward. It is planned to equip these centers with sand boxes, and perhaps swings, and see-saws, and to provide materials for crafts. The centers will be open six hours a day, five days a week, for a ten week period.

The $5,000, it has been estimated, will be needed to pay a portion of the salaries of the supervisors, the balance being appropriated by the state through school district. Some of the $5,000 will be used for equipment.

It was stated this morning that

A CORRECTION

In a court story published in yesterday's Courier from Doylestown, it was stated that restitution had been made of all articles allegedly stolen, by three Bensalem youths, "with the exception of a box of ketchup," which William Webb "still has at his home." This was in error, as the ketchup was turned over to the police following the arrest of the youths. Webb's parents knew nothing of the crime until their son's arrest.

ALIVE BUT GOOD

When men of different races go to war, their hostility takes on a racial tinge. Americans used to say "The only good Indian is a dead Indian," and Indians heartily reciprocated with "The only good white man is a dead white man." During World War II it came natural for Americans to say "The only good Jap is a dead Jap."

But Yukio Ozaki, though he has reached his nineties, is not a dead Japanese, and he is a good one. His visit to this country caps a full lifetime of courageous struggle for principle. Ozaki is probably the only politician in the world to remain a national legislator for 60 straight years without losing a single election. Today, as in 1890, he is a member of the Japanese Diet.

His career in politics started eight years before that. In 1882 he joined in establishing the Japanese Progressive Party, which was promptly dissolved by the authorities for the blasphemous crime of saying that the people have a right to a voice in how they ruled. At that time Japan had no legislative Diet.

But Ozaki turned editor, crusaded for one, and won a seat in its opening session. In the Diet he has continued to fight for more liberty for the Japanese people.

He fought a losing battle, too, against Japanese militarism. As a result, he had a narrow escape from assassination in 1936, and his house was burned down in 1940. After Pearl Harbor he was again threatened with the political murder he so caustically denounced. But he went right on being elected to the Diet. Even in 1942, when he was in jail for criticizing the emperor and the people were ordered not to vote for any opponent of the war government, he was reelected by a large majority.

Ozaki is a tiny old man, poor in this world's goods. He is also a man of wisdom and courage and honor.

THE DOC TAKES A STRIKE

Early last winter sports writers had great fun at the expense of the basement dwelling St. Louis Browns of the American League for signing on a psychologist.

At the time, this complex hunter, Dr. David Tracy, had explained his projected linking of the batter's box and the confession couch (don't all psychologists have them?) to a group of New York sports writers. The consensus was that if Dr. Tracy could do any good for the chronically neurotic Browns it would be a miracle.

At this writing the Browns are in seventh place, more than 10 games behind. They had better do one of two things: Either charge the doc's batteries a little longer and equip him with a double whammy or warm up another psychologist in the bullpen.

The season is fresh and young to be sure. But multiplying 10 (number of games behind) times nine (number of first string players) it appears that the doc is already hopelessly behind in his work.

ARE YOUR RECORDS FULLY PROTECTED?

If fire wiped out your business—as happens to many companies in this country every day—would you have the records to prove your loss? Remember your fire insurance contract obligates you to produce the inventory, bills, invoices and other factual evidence on which the settlement will be made.

Without such records after a fire your day in court would find you empty handed—you would have to accept an adjustment instead of a full settlement.

year was the canonization of the servant of God and apostle of Christian education, John Baptist de La Salle. The boys at St. Francis commemorated this event with a triduum which ended on Wednesday, May 24. Part of the exercises of the triduum was a talk each day on Saint de La Salle. Monday, Brother Benilde spoke on John Baptist de La Salle, the Saint. On Tuesday, Brother Vincent spoke on The Work of St. John Baptist de La Salle. Brother Michael spoke on Wednesday on The Followers of Saint John Baptist de La Salle.

The continuing of the work of St. de La Salle was brought to mind recently by the notice in the public press of the opening of another La Salle in Japan to help educate the young Japanese. Also by the recent proclamation of Pope Pius XII, naming St. John Baptist de La Salle as Special Patron of the Educators of Youth. This anniversary is the beginning of the Tercentenary Year of the birth of St. John Baptist de La Salle who was born at Rheims, April 30, 1651.

In the week that followed more people bought Sunoco gasoline than in any previous week in our history.

New Blue Sunoco sales in April and May to date are our biggest gasoline sales on record.

Why is this?

This sales record is made possible because motorists have been quick to realize that they get more for their money with our new Blue Sunoco. Designed for the new high-compression engines, this sensational new high-test gasoline puts new life into every car on the road. Ranking among the best gasolines in the nation, it actually saves you up to 2¢ a gallon over premium-priced gasolines!

Sun Oil Company makes only one grade of gasoline. No second or third grade . . . only high quality, high-test New Blue Sunoco. Our policy of mass production and distribution means that we can pass enormous savings on to the consumer . . . savings on pumps, tanks, trucks, warehouses, pipelines, barges and refineries.

Here and There Bucks County Towns

Buckingham Farmers' Club, entertained Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Livezey, Buckingham, many of the members commented upon the fact that farm activities have been greatly retarded because of the cold and rainy weather.

Prior to the program, which was quite informal, a supper was served about 85 members and friends.

Some corn, it was pointed out, has been planted, and plowing for corn continues. Tomato planting was in progress the past week, and it will be continued this week. Because of the cold weather and rain, the grass looks good, but work in the gardens is somewhat behind schedule.

Mrs. John Henry resigned as secretary, and Mrs. Alfred Simons was appointed her successor.

The program was presented by Mrs. Grace Knapp and her three children, Silverdale, who gave a number of selections on marimbas.

The next meeting will be held on June 17, when Buckingham high school students will present a program of music. William Harris, Jr., will show pictures and describe his trip to Mexico. Among the helpers at the next meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. John Whitebeck, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alcott and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burd.

A Memorial That Lives On

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

WHEN President James A. Garfield's second son, James R., died recently, at 84, after a distinguished career, he was president of the board of trustees of the Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center. He had asked that no flowers be sent to his funeral but that contributions be donated to the Hearing and Speech Center instead. What a worthy model.

Not long ago a neighbor we all greatly loved passed away. Wishing to pay our respects, a number of us went about the rural area where I live to collect money to send flowers for this purpose. I was assigned a certain road. Everybody cheerfully contributed and at the funeral the front of the country church was stacked with lovely flowers.

When the matter was put up to Mrs. Myers and me we could only agree to cooperate fully. But between ourselves we thought that such a fund might well be used to establish a memorial fund for the church maintenance, for the much-needed church organ, or for the hospital under construction. A few weeks later Mrs. Myers, returning from a meeting of the hospital board, told me of the gifts recently made to the hospital, in lieu of flowers, in honor of an outstanding citizen of the county seat who died. A little later we learned of a gift of several books to the local library made in honor of another passing citizen of that town.

Instead of Flowers

More recently, at a business meeting of our rural union church this matter came up and the growing new practice of imperishable gifts for a cause instead of flowers at funerals was presented. The person presenting this matter did so in connection with the problem of church finances and explained that then, when no funeral was pending, this matter could be considered objectively.

There seemed to be general agreement that this wise way should prevail. A number of individuals expressed the wish that if anyone wished to pay respects when they had died, they hoped it would be in the form of a fund that would live on and on right here.

Fortunately, there is a growing practice among discriminating persons announcing a death in the family to request that no flowers be sent.

While something may be said for a few flowers at funerals, just imagine how many debts of hospitals and churches could have been wiped out, how much better our hospitals could have been equipped, how much better our starving preachers could have been paid, and how much more money could have been available for the scores of other human services, if most of the money spent last year for floral gifts at funerals had been gifts to an imperishable cause.

P. T. A. Elects Officers; Plans Fair and Picnic

Business of importance last evening at Laurel Bend Parent-Teacher Association included election of officers, plans for the annual picnic, and arrangements for a fair in September.

Mrs. James Booz, Sr., was named president; Mrs. E. W. Kelly, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Vattimo, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Douglass, treasurer. These officers were installed by Mrs. Lloyd Bucher.

Mr. Lahr, of Bucks Co. Rescue Squad, Crofton, demonstrated the squad's plastic lung.

A musical program was given by several Bristol high school girls, as follows: Vocal numbers, Helen Clotti, Eida Viviani, Marie Missera; vocal solos, Eida Viviani; piano selections, Helen Clotti; quartet, Eleanor Sheetz, Leonore Purzner, Maybeth Brown, Joyce Versapille, with sound effects by Dolores Baroa.

Mrs. Vattimo reported the school board had been informed that the projector was donated by the P.T.A.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE other day a housewife confessed that her attitude toward homemaking had changed a good deal since she was married. She recalled how at first she had regarded the running of the home as a menial chore that was beneath the ability of one who had been a successful business woman. Now, as a busy housewife with three robust children, she admits that homemaking is a top-ranking job that requires far more patience, skill and ingenuity than an office job. With this healthy attitude, homemaking has become an adventure and challenge instead of a chore. Day by day, in watching her family grow and in solving the hundreds of household problems, she gets a feeling of satisfaction and achievement.

A little help for the lady of the house here and there is in order. That's why this week A & P's Service for Homemakers recommends a wholesome dish of Early New England Chicken Pie for Sunday dinner.

Line an earthen baking dish or casserole with pastry rolled one quarter of an inch thick. Take a chicken weighing about four pounds and boil. Then lay pieces of this hot boiled chicken, seasoned to taste, in the dish and pour three cups of chicken gravy over the top. Cover with pastry rolled one eighth of an inch thick. Cut gashes in top to permit escape of steam, or arrange lattice of pastry strips on top. Bake in hot oven for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate and bake half an hour longer.

Try serving cooked carrots rolled in bread crumbs and baked, with this delicious chicken, together with a side dish of creamed asparagus. All in all, there's enough here for six people. Then for a finale that is sure to please, treat the family to strawberry tart topped with whipped cream and downed with a cup of hot coffee.

to the school. Melvin Houser was named chairman of the basement activities room project; with Mrs. Vattimo and Mrs. Melvin Houser in charge of curtain alterations. Mrs. Nelson Simon was named program chairman for next term.

In connection with the September meeting, a fair will be held with pupils taking part. The place is yet to be announced. Children will display hobbies and flowers, with prizes to be awarded. Refreshments will be on sale. The refreshments committee, composed of teachers, will be headed by James Foley.

Mr. Houser informed that books of the treasurer have been audited.

Project for next year will be in connection with athletic equipment, the committee, headed by Mr. Houser, to contact the faculty to learn what equipment will be needed, as only the higher grades, four, five and six, are to be housed at Laurel Bend next term, it is stated.

The annual picnic is to be at Cadwalader Park, Trenton, N. J., June 8th, this being for school pupils. Chairman Mrs. Vattimo will be aided by Mrs. Simon, Mrs. Houser, and Mrs. Merle Schell. Attendance award went to Mr. Foley's room.

Mrs. Walter Prickett, Mrs. Schell and Mrs. Vattimo were in charge of the "doggie" roast which followed.

Tailored Type Hairdo Popular

It's neat and nifty. A sleek, up-swinging, tailored hairdo that's easy to keep in place.

By HELEN FOLLETT

EXCEPT for the girl in her late teens, who still sticks to flowing locks, the tailored type of hairdo is likely to be one's happiest choice. Tailored charm is simple, almost classic. Your tresses are clipped fairly short, there is an up and backward motif that takes them into the realm of smart distinction. Only a few wide wave lines. No curly cues, no ringlets, no fluff. Perfect for a well-shaped head.

Blessed than all else about this arrangement is the fact that you are not spending precious time building your topknot or winding it on hardware that interferes with restful sleep. A few sweeps of the comb and there you are! Neat, pretty, of the mode.

Out of Proportion
Longer bobs, fluffed out, high the rear neckline that may have charm of its own and they make the head look massive, often out of proportion to the rest of the body, especially if one belongs to the small-sized contingent. Still, some girls are hanging onto them. That's the nice thing about modern fashions. There are no hard and fast rules. Your hair can be short, long or between lengths and you'll still be marching in the fashion parade. Some women have turned down the short cut which, of course, is not precisely new, not new enough to be a sensation.

Whenever one takes on a new hairdo, the tresses require special care: for hair, like a well-trained child, hates to be pushed around in new directions. Having worn a side parting, and deciding to part your hair in the middle, note how your hair acts up. It fairly snarls at you. Your scalp feels sore and sensitive when the shafts, accustomed to resting in one direction, are swept in another manner.

With ringlets out of the picture, there is no excuse for not doing your daily brushing. Grooming gives vitality to the growth. It removes surface dust, keeps the hair cleaner. It is something that should be done, willy-nilly.

Harrison street, along Farragut avenue to Pond street, Jefferson avenue, Radcliffe street, Mill, Bath, Buckley, Beaver street, to Leedom's field.

The cooperation of the public is solicited so there will be no interference with the parade, and the dangers of traffic will be entirely eliminated.

The parade is scheduled to start promptly at 1:15. Each district will be judged as it passes the home of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, on Radcliffe street. Points will be scored for the largest number in line and for best appearance (general appearance and conduct). The two prizes are trophies.

The formation of the parade, as announced by Mr. Spencer, follows: First Division—On (Farragut avenue with head at Harrison Street), Police Escort, High School band, Minister, John P. Kessler and Howard R. Thornton.

The catered banquet was served in St. James' parish house, with fillet mignon as the piece de resistance. Later the group adjourned to the Elks' home for a two-hour program of specialty acts.

Serving as toastmaster was Charles Rathke, past exalted ruler. Welcome was extended and remarks were made by Charles W. Omrod, exalted ruler. A chair was presented to the retiring exalted ruler, William S. Cross; also a chair to the chaplain, H. Wesley Bunting, who yesterday marked his 50th wedding anniversary.

Fourth Division—On (Cleveland St. with head at Farragut Avenue), American Legion Cadet Corps, Fourth Ward, Fifth and Sixth Wards.

3 Charter Members Are Present at Elks Banquet

Among the 150 members of Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. Elks, attending the 45th annual banquet last evening were three charter members, namely, Pemberton M.

Minister, John P. Kessler and Howard R. Thornton.

The catered banquet was served in St. James' parish house, with fillet mignon as the piece de resistance. Later the group adjourned to the Elks' home for a two-hour program of specialty acts.

Serving as toastmaster was Charles Rathke, past exalted ruler. Welcome was extended and remarks were made by Charles W. Omrod, exalted ruler. A chair was presented to the retiring exalted ruler, William S. Cross; also a chair to the chaplain, H. Wesley Bunting, who yesterday marked his 50th wedding anniversary.

NARROW ESCAPE

Mrs. Russell Moore, Bath street, had a narrow escape from injury last evening when she and her husband were engaged in painting a boat at the Anchor Yacht Club. The boat, about 32 feet long, was on land, supported on wooden "horses". Mrs. Moore was working under the boat when one of the "horses" was moved slightly so that the portion of the boat resting on the "horse" could be painted. As the boat suddenly commenced shifting, the group called out to Mrs. Moore to beware, and she escaped just in time as the boat turned on its side. Extent of damage to the boat is not yet determined.

Plan For 2nd "Learn To Swim" Instruction

For the second year, the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross will sponsor a "Learn to Swim" program, dates for the summer instruction to be announced later. It is thought the lessons will be given in July. Sites for the instruction will be: Silver Lake, Bristol; Neshaminy Creek, Newportville; and at a pool in Cornwells Heights.

Through co-operation of the school system in Bristol borough and Bensalem township, a survey is being made to learn needs for the classes. Details of the program will be released later, it is announced.

Branch chairman of safety services for the Red Cross is Charles vonWallmenick; and the district chairman is Mrs. Donald Fagan, Bristol township.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Big blue-rock shoot this Sunday . . . the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association has completed arrangements for another open, 50-target blue-rock shoot over the club traps, just north of New U. S. Route 13, south of Bath Road opposite Silver Lake.

Targets and purse for the 50 sixteen-yard targets is $4.50, with $3.00 from each entry to form the purse, divided Lewis Class, 50-30-20% (each class, with not more than 3 classes. Entry in the Lewis Class (purse money) is optional, however.

The program, which is open to all shooters, will get underway at 12 noon, May 28th.

Casting tournament . . . tomorrow and Sunday the Philadelphia Casting Club will sponsor a contest open to all casters. On Saturday the fly and plug distance events will be run off at the Creek Club in Fairmount Park. On Sunday, the 1/2, 3/4, and 1 inch events will be held at Hunting Park Lake.

It is expected that the Bristol club will have entries on both days.

Next season's game . . . game protector R. K. Benscoter, who headquarters in Laporte, Pa., reported these recent occurrences: "Driving on Route 220, I followed a car moving at a moderate speed. Ahead of it were two grouse that apparently were picking gravel from the road. That car killed the two birds . . . the equivalent of a day's grouse limit last season.

"The same evening, en route to pick up a deer that had been killed on the highway, I drove behind a car. In its headlights a rabbit dodged bewilderedly about the road. When I arrived at the spot, a crushed rabbit lay dying.

"Neither of these drivers made any attempt to avoid striking the game killed; neither eased up on the accelerator. In the case of the rabbit, lights were not blinked. In neither instance was the wildlife given a sporting chance to escape to produce young for future sport."

No real answer yet . . . back in the early thirties one of the best fishing spots ever located in this entire area (the old Mill Pond) was drained, leveled, rebuilt and restocked with fish. It then became known as our present Silver Lake.

During the passing years thousands and thousands of fish have been stocked in this body of water (9,000 last year). Yet it has almost continuously provided very, very poor fishing. There were one or two seasons when some nice bass, catfish and yellow perch were taken, but that was the exception.

Today the question is continuously put, "Where are the fish in Silver Lake?" At least a dozen theories have been advanced but none have been proved. As a result, the Bristol club has appealed to the Fish Commission to have a study made to determine what is happening to the fish, with the hope in mind that both an answer to the question and a solution to the problem of keeping them will be found.

Conservation problems . . . in recent years many undesirable wildlife conditions have arisen to plague conservation agencies and farmers in this country. Imagination, modern equipment and sound management have combined to overcome many of them, as in the following examples:

In successful restocking programs, fish and beavers have been dropped from airplanes at inaccessible places.

Last summer, it was found that Minnesota's moose in the Red Lake Game Preserve were suffering from lack of water. A 3,000 square-mile bog area there often dried up completely. That situation left moose without protection from blackflies, deerflies and midges. Without deep water in which to escape insect tormentors, moose frequently go blind and starve to death.

The Naval Air Station provided planes and 1,000-pound bombs to overcome the undesirable condition. Seven deep craters, averaging 100 feet in diameter, were blasted into the bog area, providing adequate protection and drinking water for the herd.

In Nebraska beavers were recently accused of cutting the pilings under a bridge, causing it to collapse in high water. If the beavers try to repeat they will have aching teeth. The wooden pilings were replaced by ones of steel.

Practice casting . . . every Tuesday evening practice casting will be held at Bristol Memorial Park. Although the sessions are planned especially for the kids, all others are welcome, and competent instructors will be on hand to assist.

JEFFERSON A. C. WINS OVER THE FIREMEN

Jefferson A. C. won its third straight game of the Bristol Softball League last evening as it scored a close 7-6 victory over Fire Company, No. 1, in an extra inning game on Memorial Park field.

Vito Marseglia won his own game in the eighth inning by singling with Tom Ruggieri on base and two out.

The fire-eaters had tied the score in the top half of the seventh when "Pete" Caputa hit safely to score "Luke" Wade.

Jefferson had garnered an early lead in the tilt by registering five markers in the initial frame on three walks, an error, and two hits.

Caputa and Capriotti had three hits each for the firemen with the latter having a pair of doubles.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TRIUMPH OVER LANGHORNE GIRLS

LANGHORNE, May 26 — Bristol High girls won their sixth straight contest of the Lower Bucks Softball League yesterday, pounding out a 15-10 verdict over Langhorne High.

Coach Barbara Yerkes' minions have but one more game to play, that being with Council Rock next Friday afternoon. The worst Bristol can get out of the league at the present time is a tie for first. It will be crowned champion of 1950 if it should beat Council Rock.

The Bristol lassies had 17 hits one less than Langhorne. Marion Barth and Helen Miller had four safe blows each with Barth leading off the sixth with a home run. She also had a double to her credit while all of Miller's hits were singles.

"Jackie" Ghardi had two triples to her credit. One of her three-baggers would have been a home run but she was declared out for failing to touch home plate.

Audrey Kent had two singles and a double for Langhorne while Josephine Babisch had three singles.
